BIG SEIZURE OF ARMS AT SHANGHAI.

"MEDICINE" FOR INDIA.

Some serious allegations were made in the Mixed Court last week which, if they are substantiated by evidence, reveal a state of affairs which the Police are to be congratulated upon unearthing, says the N.C. Daily News. The allegations were made in connection with a big seizure of arms and ammunition, the case being heard before Mr. Grant Jones, British Assessor, and Magistrate Yu. Three Chinese appeared before the Court, giving the names of Tsong Tsz-dau (married, a stevedore), Ng Yung-sing (married, a shopkeeper), and Ng Sze-ping (married, a shopkeeper). They were charged for that they, on October 16th, 1915, at 804, Wuchang Road, Shanghai, did unlawfully keep for military purposes certain arms, to wit, 129 pistols and 20,830 rounds of ammunition, contrary to the Chinese Provisional Criminal Code, section 205.

Mr. K. E. Newman appeared for the prosecution, acting on behalf of the Police, while Mr. Holborow appeared for Tsong Tsz-dau, and Mr. Musso for Ng Yung-sing.

Previous to the opening statement being made by Mr. Newman, a letter was handed to Mr. Grant Jones, from the German Assessor, Dr. Penzsch, which was addressed to Mr. M. O. Springfield, Registrar of the Mixed Court. It read as follows:—

"Sir,—With reference to our conversation by telephone, I beg to inform you that the defendant's name is Tsong Tsz-dau, who is employed by the German merchant Nielsen, and was arrested, as far as I can ascertain, by a detective of the Harbin Road station. I thank you to have the case remanded for me either for Saturday or for a special hearing. I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

"Dr. PENZSCH,
German Assessor."

Mr. Grant Jones, after reading it, said that the rules of the Consular Body said that letters were to be received from the Consul-General. That had not come from the Consul-General so far as he was aware; it was from the German Assessor. He asked Mr. Musso if he knew anything about the letter and Mr. Musso said that on behalf of his clients he knew nothing of the application; he had only to ask for a remand.

MR. NEWMAN'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Newman—Before the case is remanded, I should like to make a short opening statement. The facts are as follows:—A native detective, No. 20, at 3.30 on Saturday afternoon, acting on information received, arrested two wheelbarrow coolies, and took them to the Harbin Road station. The wheelbarrows were laden with planks of wood. The coolies were interviewed and the planks examined, and on examination they were found to conceal sealed boxes, which, on being opened, were found to contain pistols and ammunition. Twenty-two times altogether were found in the possession of the coolies. Then Detective Sergeant Page will tell the Court that he questioned the coolies, and as a result he went to the house of a Chinese, who is one of the defendants, and who stated that the tin boxes were the property of his nephew, another of the defendants. He and the nephew were taken into custody. The nephew was locked in the house, 804, Wuchang Road, which is a house occupied by the third defendant.

A search of the house was made, and fifty tins of pistols and ammunition were found under the bed. Altogether, I think, there were about 130 pistols and roughly 20,000 rounds of ammunition. The prisoners were interviewed, and one, the man Tsong, said that he was employed in this particular instance by a German named Nielsen. He says that he has been employed by the German firm of Garrels, Börner & Co., No. 27, King's Road, for above four years, and Mr. Nielsen is employed by the German firm of Garrels, Börner & Co. and this man Nielsen met Tsong a short time before.

The prisoner Tsong said Nielsen was employed in the same firm, but the Chinese prisoner left Garrels, Börner & Co. and has been trying to get a position in another firm in Shanghai. He says that on September 25th he met Nielsen in King's Road, and Mr. Nielsen asked him if he knew anyone who would be willing to take a consignment of medicine to a foreign country. The "medicine" was duly delivered to the prisoner's house, and he was told that he was to take it in this peculiar manner (in the planks).

NATURE OF THE PLANKS.

The attention of the Court was at this stage called to the planks and to the tin cases containing the arms and ammunition. The former were planks about a foot wide and eight or nine feet long, leaning against the side of the Court. There was little, apparently, that was suspicious about them, with the exception of a number of grooves, into which the tins fitted. There were a number of such grooves on each plank. The tins were likewise innocent looking, being air-tight, and bearing no mark on the outside to lead anyone to think that they contained pistols and ammunition.

Continuing the story, Mr. Newman said:—We have seen a desk at the Police Station which has a false bottom to it. The Chinese was told by Nielsen to take these things to an address in India, which he was given.

Mr. Grant Jones—That is the statement of the man Tsong Tsz-dau? Mr. Newman—Yes.

Mr. Grant Jones—How do you mean he was to take them?
Mr. Newman—He was to go on board ship with them, and he was to take them in this form. How they were discovered in this particular state was that they were being prepared for shipment, and to get the planks made they had to get the services of a carpenter. The carpenter, becoming curious, opened one of the tins. The men thought, and the prosecution do not suggest otherwise, that it was medicine and they then found that the tins contained ammunition. The accused say that they were angry at being hoodwinked, as it were, and they were taking part of the case back to the German, but they still had a considerable quantity left. Mr. Grant Jones—Do you mean they had returned some?

Mr. Newman—No, they say they were on their way to return them; whether they were or not I do not know. The fact remains that they were being conveyed in this peculiar way, even although they were only being returned to Nielsen. There was still a larger quantity left on the premises.

With those few facts, concluded Mr. Newman, I think the Court will see that the British interests are certainly much more extensive than the German interests for this particular case.

Mr. Holborow said that his client had been a victim, and in the event of a remand he applied for bail.

Mr. Musso made a similar petition for bail, but this was strongly objected to by Mr. Newman, who said that Mr. Musso's client was the principal offender, as he was in the same firm as the man Nielsen.

Mr. Musso—His defence is that he was given these things and they were represented to him as medicine.

Mr. Grant Jones—You say he is an innocent agent of some other felonious person?

Mr. Musso—Yes. Counsel added that his client had given all the information, he could to the Police.

Mr. Newman—I am not prepared to give my reasons at the present moment, except that he did not give all the information that he could have given.

Mr. Grant Jones—Do you submit to the jurisdiction of the Court, Mr. Musso?

Mr. Musso said he had no instructions to do otherwise.

Mr. Newman said he did not want the case adjourned for a special hearing, as it would last only a short while.

The case was accordingly remanded until Wednesday morning. An order was also made that the arms remain in the custody of the Police until a further order of the Court.

When the case came on again Mr. Newman asked for a special hearing.

He also stated that there may be further charges relating to conspiracy to defraud the Revenue authorities, and he gave counsel appearing for the accused warning. He had not the charge properly framed at present.

The case was again remanded. Garrels, Börner & Co. have written to the Shanghai papers stating that their firm is "in no way whatsoever connected with this affair and that the Chinese in question, as well as Mr. A. Nielsen, whose name is also mentioned, are no longer in our employ."

RUSSIA'S ENORMOUS SACRIFICES.

A COMPARISON WITH GREAT BRITAIN.

The Times correspondent at Petrograd in a message dated September 10th said:—Throughout the warfare in the Eastern theatre the Russian Armies, despite their reverses, have inflicted correspondingly far greater losses on the Austro-German Armies than have the rest of the Allies. The number of British casualties telegraphed here do not represent one-tenth of those sustained by Russia. In proportion to its population Russia is bearing the burden of the war, as expressed in actual loss of life, in the ratio of 20 to 1 compared with Great Britain.

It is only due to this tremendous sacrifice of Russian lives that the Austro-German Armies have been weakened probably to half their total strength. The question is, "Do the opponents of National Service in Great Britain at all realize what this war means?" If they do, then the German reproach is justified. There is only one way in which Britain can show the Russians that she is willing to continue to bear the burden of the war, and that is by adopting National Service. No other way is comprehensible. [The total British casualties up to August 21st were 381,982.]

THE INVASION OF RUSSIA.

THE RETREAT FROM VILNA.

GERMAN ATTEMPT AT ENVELOPMENT.

The Times of the 24th ult. says:—The question of absorbing interest on the Eastern front is the fate of the Russian Army retreating from Vilna. The force of German cavalry which broke through our Ally's line near Sviyazhsk has seized the railway junction at Molodeczna, and now occupies the line Vornian-Smogor-Molodeczna, thus threatening the flank of the Russian Army. Desperate attempts are being made by the enemy to cut off the retreat, but they are being met by determined counter-attacks. Passages of the River Vilna, north-east of Vilna, are being fought for, and the issue remains still in doubt.

A sentence in the Petrograd communiqué issued on Monday indicates the gravity of the position. Our Ally's troops are described as fighting with "coolness and assurance under the most trying conditions."

South-west of Vilna the Germans are rapidly advancing in their encircling movement, and they claim to have reached at several points the main Riga-Lemberg railway, which is of great importance for the Russian communications.

At Dyvinsk, from which place Mr. Stanley Washburn sends us a despatch dated last Saturday, the Germans are attacking from the north-west, west, and south. Though, in our Correspondent's opinion, the fortress can be captured if the Germans are willing to pay the heavy price it will mean, it is well defended, and the moral of the Russian soldier is as high as before the fall of Warsaw.

The Russian communiqué refers to violent fighting in the Dyvinsk district, where the enemy was driven back with great loss. An enemy attempt to seize the station of Molodeczna was repulsed. The raising of a further force of over two million men to take the field next spring, which General Polivanoff, the Russian War Minister, recently announced, is being proceeded with, and an Imperial Ukase has been issued calling out the reserves of the Territorial Army.

THE SALUTE.

"A DEGRADING ANACHRONISM."

The writer of "Fleetmen's Topics" in the Naval and Military Review writes:—

There has just appeared in one of the oldest and most reputable of London's evening papers a rather remarkable letter on the subject of saluting, which the writer describes as a "degrading anachronism" which ought to have been long since abolished.

The paper in which these views are expressed discommences them; but it does so on the ground that "when a soldier salutes an officer the action is not personal, it is merely symbolical of the respect which is paid to the symbol of the Sovereign's authority as embodied in the King's coat."

It does not appear to me that this view is altogether correct. If it were, every civilian would salute everyone in naval or military uniform, from full private and second class boy up to Admiral of the Fleet and Field-Marshal.

There is a curious difference between naval and military saluting on the one hand and civilian saluting—if that is the right word—on the other. In civilian life the inferior salutes the superior, and he is not supposed to salute a lady—that is to raise his hat—until she has been graciously pleased to smile upon him.

In the fighting services the initiative must come from the inferior. It is often forgotten by civilians that the duty of saluting is as binding upon the officer as upon the man. "Every officer," says the regulation, "should return a salute made to him, a salute made to two or more officers being returned by all the officers."

One of the many popular novelties which have suddenly blossomed forth as war experts might do worse than discuss the psychology of the salute. In the fighting forces the principle works rather curiously. An O.D. is not supposed to salute a chief petty officer, who is four grades his senior, but a lieutenant is expected to pay tribute to a lieutenant-commander solely by virtue of the latter's length of service.

One of the many cases of impersonation which the war has produced was betrayed by the fact that an impostor with three rings and a curl on his cuff sought additional advertisement (or perhaps merely displayed his ignorance) by saluting a genuine commander. If it were a matter of saluting the King's coat? Sir John Jellicoe would be just as much burdened with the responsibility of taking the initiative as any A.B. he might pass in the street. Right at the bottom the salute is no more than a mutual recognition between equals who share the common honour of the King's uniform. No civilian has the right to salute anyone save in the manner sanctioned by civilianism.

There is no question that even at the best of times the custom is a nuisance to officers and men alike when they are off duty. It has been announced that the officers of the Guards neither expect to receive, nor intend to return, salutes in the streets of London—though they properly leave their position open in the matter of saluting their own superiors. If such a statement can be publicly made on behalf of one regiment it is obvious that the salute no longer holds the high official ground that it did, and that the authorities regard it as at least an anachronism, though not necessarily as a degrading one. What is good enough for the Guards in this matter should be good enough for, say, H.M.S. Ganges, and if the statement made on the regiment's behalf is not officially turned down it is fairly obvious that the whole question of saluting is thrown into the melting-pot.

It is admitted that in such a place as London a strict observance of the regulations would prove an intolerable burden to all concerned, especially as second-lieutenants—the majority of whom must stand in need of much training—appear to have such a vast amount of time on their hands. Walking through the streets it seems that about one man in five salutes an officer, and that one officer in five expects to be saluted. A contributory cause of trouble at the present time is the large number of commissions that are granted to outsiders—that is, to people without the slightest experience of naval or military work; and as human beings, we can forgive the old campaigners in the ranks who do not exactly thrust salutes upon them. This is especially so in the case of the Navy. It is to be noted as curious that while a very sharp and easily recognized line is drawn in the senior service between the regular officers and practically the whole of those entered to cover the war emergency, no difference whatever is made in the Army. Indeed, only a very small number of emergency officers have been taken into the Navy at all, the R.N.R. and the R.N.V.R. absorbing nearly all of them.

According to the Telegraph, Pilot Corporal Kandelski, who steered the aeroplane in the fight against Pégoud, has sent a letter to his father in which he writes:—

"I had an aerial fight with Pégoud and that meant that I had to be alert. The forts at Belfort opened a heavy fire on me, and sharpshooters were burning around me. Hardly was I out of range of the enemy guns when a French machine suddenly approached. Fighting took place at a height of 2,400 metres. The first thing I did was to swing round my machine sharply in order to obtain five range to my flank. My observer First Lieutenant Bilitz, at once fired our machine-gun, which after the 30th shot refused to work. Meanwhile Pégoud had approached to within 50 metres. I circled round him once and suddenly executed a sharp curve to the left by which I got my adversary in the flank, and Bilitz, whose machine-gun was again in order, gave him the rest."

Notice boards inscribed with the words: "Persists are requested to hold their conversation elsewhere," have been placed in the corridors, office, and waiting-rooms of the Central Telegraph Bureau in Paris.

LONDON'S FIRE GUARD.

COMPARISONS WITH NEW YORK.

The City Editor of one of the London papers writes:—

The injuries sustained by several members of the London Fire Brigade in rescue work in the recent Zeppelin raid on the London district have emphasised the fact that the City is well guarded in case of the outbreak of any conflagration.

Questions of risk are being constantly submitted to various insurance offices, and comparisons are often made with statistics of fires in other populous centres.

The relative safety of London is demonstrated by some interesting figures which have been compiled by the Fire Brokers' Association of the City of New York. In the following table comparisons are shown of fires and the damage caused thereby in this country and in America. The figures are all the more striking because of the relative sizes of the two cities:—

London, New York.
One year's fires 3,609 14,429
Estimated damage £35,750 £1,643,560
Gall's of water used 12,427,371 76,826,589
Fire alarms 6,125 19,244
False alarms 1,355 1,890

It will be seen from the above statement that there are four times as many fires in New York as in London, while the estimated damage in the former city is three times that sustained here. The water used in New York for the extinguishing of fires is as six to one when compared with London. While the alarms given in America are three times as many as in our own city, there is no marked difference in the number of false alarms given.

The statistics here recorded point to the exercise of far greater care in London than in New York. The sky-scrapers of America and the proverbial rush and activity there may be responsible to some extent for the excessive number of fires. Whatever the reason, the figures speak for themselves, and demonstrate the fact that London is a much safer place than New York with regard to conflagrations.

ALLEGED PERJURY.

THE CUSTODY OF BOOKS.

During the resumed hearing of the case at the Supreme Court, yesterday, in which three Chinese merchants are charged with committing wilful perjury, Mr. Potter remarked that during the tiffin adjournment Mr. Sheiton went to the premises concerned to obtain two of the firm's books which were supposed to be in the possession of the Receivers, Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews. Mr. Sheiton discovered that the books were locked up in a cupboard, and the door was broken open in order to get at them.

His lordship remarked that this seemed to be an unusual sort of happening in view of the fact that the books, etc., were in the custody of the Receiver. He would like to see a representative of Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews.

Mr. Rozz, an assistant with the firm, was called, and in reply to his lordship said that the keys of the premises were in the possession of a Chinese clerk.

Mr. Potter. And Huang Shun Yen, the gentleman who has been mentioned so frequently in connection with this case, has thus had an opportunity of getting at these two books in which certain entries are made.

The Chief Justice remarked that he thought it was a very wrong happening. If the Receiver did not have proper control of the books it was not very satisfactory. He instructed Mr. Rozz to bring the Chinese clerk to the Court the next day, and also to make inquiries in regard to the matter himself.

The hearing was again adjourned.

BUILDING AUTHORITY PROSECUTION.

THE MORTAR QUESTION.

Professor Middleton Smith Dean of the Engineering Faculty at the Hongkong University, gave evidence yesterday at the Magistrate's in the case in which the Public Works Department are prosecuting a contractor named Lam Dore, for a breach of the Public Health and Buildings Ordinance by using inferior mortar. Professor Smith deposed to examining samples of mortar received from Mr. A. E. Wright (the Building Authority), and to making samples himself, the results of which he detailed. He thought that the personal element entered much into the making of the mortar. If Mr. Wright himself made it, it would be much better than if made by a man who was not so expert. In his opinion it was practically impossible to get a perfect mixture, and he thought that a square-inch sample was not a fair test. He sympathized very greatly with the difficulty of the Building Authority in this matter. It was certainly for the public safety that these people should be watched.

Mr. Brutton—I think everybody agrees with that.

Professor Smith said he had examined the samples under the microscope, and he could not say whether there was cement in them or not. He did not think anybody could. It seemed to him that if the mortar contained cement it had a tendency to become lighter in time. If he had placed before him the samples sent to him and the two he himself made, he would certainly be able to pick out the ones containing cement. He had looked up authorities on the matter, and he found a two-and-a-half inch sample should be taken as test.

Mr. Brutton called evidence to prove that cement was in fact put into the mortar.

The Magistrate reserved his decision till Saturday, at 9.45 a.m.

SHIPPING NOTES.

SHIPPING ACCIDENT IN THE INLAND SEA.

JAPANESE STEAMER ASHORE.

The N.Y.K. steamer Fukuoka-maru, 2,800 tons, on the run between Kobe and Otaru, ran on a rock off Yojima, Kagawa prefecture, west of the Nabeshima light, at 11 o'clock on a recent Sunday morning. Her cargo consisted of 900 tons of rails, 1,500 bales of ammonia, and 1,700 barrels of cement. The ammonia and cement were so badly damaged by sea water that it was all jettisoned.

S.S. "CHINA" REPORTED SOLD TO CHINESE.

According to San Francisco telegrams appearing in Japan papers a Chinese steamship company recently formed in San Francisco has purchased the Pacific Mail liner China, which thus will sail hereafter under the Chinese flag.

The China is a vessel of 10,200 tons. She left Yokohama, on September 13th, on her last trip as a Pacific Mail boat. The China was on the Pacific Mail line for more than thirty years, making nearly 250 voyages, beginning at the time the Pacific liners used to carry Chinese to work in the gold mines of California.

MORE TROUBLE ON THE MINNESOTA.

JAPANESE BATTLE IN SEATTLE.

A San Francisco dispatch to the Asahi reports a sanguinary fight between Japanese and Chinese on board the Minnesota at Seattle on the 11th instant. The Chinese, who numbered about 100 strong, fought the Japanese crew, who were of nearly equal strength. The contest was very well matched, and both sides fought with dogged determination. About fifty men on both sides had heads and limbs broken before peace was restored.

It is not stated how the row was started. The Chinese who demonstrated their prowess so effectively, remarks the Japan Chronicle, were presumably steerage passengers, as all the Chinese crew of the Minnesota left the ship at Kobe on her last voyage home.

THE WRECK OF THE RUFFORD HALL.

SEARLY ALL CREW SAVED.

A Hakodate dispatch to the Fiji reports that the Captain and other members of the crew of the British steamer Rufford Hall arrived at Hakodate on the evening of the 9th instant. It is stated that the only member of the crew still missing is the third engineer.

A correspondent of the Japan Gazette, writing from Hakodate on the 9th inst., gives some details of the accident, and particulars as to the cargo:

"The British steamer Rufford Hall, bound from New York for Vladivostok, via Panama Canal and Muroran, stranded on Onazaki, Benten-hima, on the southern side of Tsugara Straits, about 1 a.m. on the morning of the 6th instant. The steamer left New York on the 17th of July, with a cargo consisting of 500 tons of cotton, 40,000 cases of kerosene oil, and about 6,000 tons of steel, tin-plated, armoured motor-cars and military supplies, and arrived on the 4th at Muroran to take in bunkers. She left Muroran on the morning of the 5th, but while passing through Tsugara Straits encountered thick weather, and ran ashore on the morning of the 6th.

"The Chief Officer proceeded to Hakodate in one of the ship's boats, for assistance, which was dispatched by noon on the 6th, and hopes were entertained of floating the vessel and bringing her to Hakodate for repairs, the only damage being forward, the forepeak being flooded while there was also some water in the No. 1 hold. On the night of the 7th, however, the weather became threatening, and by daylight the sea was washing over the steamer. Forty-five men of the native crew landed in a lifeboat yesterday morning. By noon the gale had increased to typhoon force. 'S.O.S.' signals were sent from the vessel all night, and appeals for assistance were sent by the British Vice-Consul here to the Onagato Naval Station, but it was impossible to send help before this morning on account of the high wind and sea. The vessel broke up during the afternoon of the 8th only a small portion of the bows remaining above water at the present time. Some time during the gale the captain and the rest of the foreign officers and crew abandoned the doomed ship, and left in one of the lifeboats. Several destroyers and torpedo-boats from the Onagato Naval Station were sent in search of the boat.

Messrs. Cornes & Co. have heard from their surveyor, Captain Baikie, as follows:—"I visited the scene of the wreck. The Third Officer, Rae, was drowned; his body has been recovered for burial at Hakodate. The after half of the Rufford Hall lies in 28ft. of water 200 yards off the extreme north of Bentenjima, Omamawaki. The forward half is 200 yards further east. It is submerged in 70 feet of water in an extremely exposed position except from the south."

EAST ASIATIC SHIPPING CO.

TEN STEAMERS TO BE REPLACED BY LARGER SHIPS.

It is stated from Copenhagen that the East Asiatic Shipping Company have resolved to sell ten of their steamers and to replace them by greater motor-driven vessels. The steamers, representing a total of 75,000 tons, have been transferred to a new company at a price of about £10 per ton. The standing capital of the new company is fixed at ten million kroner, five million of which will be taken over by the East Asiatic Company, while five million is offered for subscription to shareholders of the same company. According to the latest edition of Lloyd's Register, the East Asiatic Company, of Copenhagen, own a fleet of 26 vessels, 23 of which are ocean-going steamers and motor ships. The steamers number 13, one being a small vessel of 75 gross tons, so that practically the whole of the company's steamers units are now to be transferred to the new undertaking. Eight of the company's existing motor-vessels have twin screws, and when the ten additional motor ships are added to the fleet, the company will have no fewer than 22 up-to-date ocean-going ships fitted with internal combustion engines.

COTTON GROWING IN CHINA.

Lord Robert Cecil, the Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in a letter to Mr. Tyson Wilson, M.P., dated September 18, says:—

In replying on June 23 to a question asked by you in the House of Commons, I offered, if you so desired, to request His Majesty's Minister in Peking to furnish a report upon the alleged revival of cotton growing in China under Government stimulus, and I have much pleasure in informing you that a report to the following effect has now been received from Sir John Jordan on this subject:

"There has been no revival of cotton growing; but some five or six years ago there was a very considerable increase in the production, especially in North China. This increase was stimulated chiefly by the high prices then prevailing in America and India; but it was encouraged by the Chinese Government, who were anxious that the cultivation of the opium poppy should be superseded by that of cotton. This encouragement took the form of official recognition of societies for the study of cotton cultivation, distribution of seeds and appointment of agents to instruct the people in improved methods."

The most recent display of interest in the subject by the Chinese Government was the issue in April last of regulations providing for monetary rewards to encourage cotton growing, sugar cultivation and sheep raising. Such regulations are not, however, generally regarded as likely to have any practical result.

No statistics are procurable in regard to the area of cotton under cultivation in China, and the amount produced, but the following figures show the export of the surplus of raw cotton to foreign countries in the last five years:

1910	1,44,885 cwt.
1911	1,04,833
1912	959,150
1913	879,538
1914	785,362

The exports from the chief ports of export in the March quarter of 1915 were less than in the corresponding quarter of 1914.

SHANGHAI ELECTRICITY DEPARTMENT.

BRITISH FIRMS AND NEW PLANT.

The London correspondent of the N.Y. Daily News writes:—

Mr. T. H. C. Aldridge, of the Electrical Department, Shanghai, leaves this country on October 8 by the Malwa. I am glad to be able to say that in response to pressure the Ministry of Munitions has agreed to British firms tendering for much of the plant which is wanted in Shanghai; the amount is over £250,000.

At first it was thought this contract could not be adopted, but representations were made by the Board of Trade on the need for retaining as much as possible the British commerce with China, and the Ministry of Munitions has accordingly just written an official letter giving his permission for a number of selected firms to tender.

REWARDS FOR THE TSINGTAO ARMY.

GENEROUS RECOGNITION.

The committee appointed for the preliminary investigation of individual merit among the troops engaged in the recent attack on Tsingtao sat in conference on the 11th instant at the Japanese War Department. According to one of the members of the Committee, the soldiers entitled to rewards number roughly 120,000, says the Japan Chronicle. Merit is classified into three grades, besides a special class. It is said that of the above number, five per cent. will receive the reward due to the special class, namely, the Order of the Golden Kite with pension; 24 per cent. the first class, 3 per cent. the second class and 1 per cent. the third class order. Those coming under the category of the third class will be rewarded with substantial grants, while those in the 1st or 2nd class will be decorated with the Order of Merit or promoted in rank. It is further stated that the money to be granted to those meritorious men and officers in the form of pensions and substantial grants amounts to ¥10,070,000 for the Army and ¥11,000,000 for the Navy.

The result of the investigation will be made public towards the end of December in regard to those engaged in actual battle, and about the middle of January next in regard to the non-combatants. The rewards will be granted simultaneously with the official publication, nominally under date of November 7, the anniversary of the fall of Tsingtao.

THE HONGKONG FOOTBALL CLUB.

PAST SEASON REVIEWED.

The 26th annual report of the Hongkong F.C. for presentation at the annual meeting on Friday, says:—

During the season 19 new members joined the Club, but it is difficult to estimate the resignations as several members who volunteered for Home Service did not resign and we hope to see them back with us for season 1916-17. There are at present 216 names on the Club's books. The Season financially was very successful; the Association Section swelling the stand receipts by their good displays in the Shield Competition. A donation of $100 was given to the Prince of Wales' Fund and a small contribution to a presentation to Mr. F. W. Eager who worked very hard on behalf of "Soccer" whilst in the Colony. The Shield Account was balanced by a transfer of $82.71 from the Club Account. The balance at the Bank now stands at the very satisfactory figure of $444.37.

The Association Section had a rather "in and out" season, their performances in the League being very mediocre compared with their displays in the Shield, where they reached the final only to be beaten in the replay of the draw by the Royal Engineers. There was much keenness shown in the latter part of the season, and it is to be hoped that it will be maintained in the coming year, when perhaps, it will be possible to run an eleven in both Divisions of the League. The Section was well served by several of the older members, and it is hoped their services will still be given to the Club in the coming season.

The Rugby Section were practically without matches, no Cup Competition being held. There appears to be no likelihood of any taking place this year, but games will be arranged when possible.

We would like to put on record our appreciation of the work Mr. F. Browne did for the Club, during his long stay in the Colony—he retired on pension whilst away on leave.

T. E. S. Robson and K. R. Forde have fallen in "The Great Game."

CRICKET IN JAPAN.

UNIQUE PERFORMANCE.

At the Interport cricket dinner in Yokohama on the 12th instant the captain of the local team, Mr. A. P. Scott, on behalf of the two teams, presented to Mr. Edwards a small memento of a bowling feat performed during the match. This took the form of the ball with which he took four wickets for four balls, on which was a silver plate, inscribed "Four wickets in four balls, W. S. Edwards, Yokohama F.C. Club, October 11th, 1915." Accompanying this was a framed card, to mark the "hat trick, which bore the following inscription:—"W. D. S. Edwards. His 25th Interport 7 for 18. Four wickets in four balls, Interport Cricket, October 11th, 1915." In making the presentation Mr. Scott said this was a unique performance in Japan cricket, and one which Mr. Edwards' friends could not allow to pass unnoticed. He (Mr. Scott) had played a good deal of cricket with Mr. Edwards, and he would not wish for a keener cricketer or a better all-round sportsman. Mr. Edwards, whose health was drunk at the call of Mr. Scott, expressed his thanks for the gift. The achievement which it marked, he said, was more or less a "fluke," for during the season he had not been up to form. Last year he decided would be his last Interport, and now he really thought he would retire on his laurels.

THE PARAMOUNT QUESTION

IN CHINA.

The question as to whether the monarchy shall be revived in China continues to be widely discussed, and North China is confident that the result of the referendum next month will be overwhelmingly in favour of the proposal. Whether South China is equally confident is very doubtful. It appears that the country is to be asked to vote, firstly, on the question as to whether it wishes to revert to a monarchical form of government but limited by a constitution, and, secondly, if the answer be in the affirmative, who shall be the Emperor? There can be, of course, only one answer to this question. If China is to have a new monarch, YUAN SHIH KAI is the only statesman in sight to "fit the purple" to the country's satisfaction. We notice that Sir FRANCIS PICOTET, writing on the situation in the Full Mall Gazette, asserts with confidence that "nothing" is farther from the President's thoughts than to "assume the purple"; secondly, that the people will not thrust the honour on him; and, thirdly, that if by chance they or any considerable section of them, were to do so, YUAN SHIH KAI would not accept it.
"It seems to follow," says Sir Francis,
"that if the Chinese people should once more demand for themselves a KING, it will be one of the Manchu dynasty, or some remote descendant from the old Chinese Emperors; it will certainly not be YUAN SHIH KAI." For ourselves we are not so certain. Whether YUAN SHIH KAI would accept the dignity is another question. He has constantly expressed himself as against the change, but seems to place himself unreservedly in the hands of the people, in whom, as he is so fond of asserting, the sovereignty of the country is vested. In an interview accorded to an American newspaper correspondent a fortnight ago the President expressed himself in these terms: "It is my cherished desire that popular opinion should decide in favour of the continuance of the republican form of government; for, under such circumstances, I shall be free to enforce the policy which I have formulated for the improvement of conditions in the country.

If it is the will of the people that a monarchy must be reconstituted, I, being the President of the country elected by popular vote, am not in a position to go against the will of the people." It is not clear how YUAN SHIH KAI, or anybody else would be less free to enforce any particular policy as Emperor than as President, but the point which the President obviously desires to make is that he is quite satisfied with his present status and title.

Why, then, is all this political turmoil allowed? The President showed himself powerful enough to extinguish with almost electrical suddenness the powerful Kuomintang; it would have been a much simpler business for him to have suppressed at the very beginning of the monarchical campaign the Chou
An Hui. The President's own statement on the subject is: "I told these promoting the monarchical movement that the Republic had already been firmly set up and their proposal could never be countenanced by the Government. Though the promoters of the movement did not receive my reply with satisfaction, yet the progress of the movement was retarded for some time after my rejection of the monarchical proposal when it was first made to me. Within recent months the leaders of every powerful section of the people have, almost to a man, expressed their opinion in favour of a monarchical restoration; and the people of the provinces have again
submitted petitions to the Tsan Cheng Yuan expressing the same wish. If I adopt drastic measures in dealing with those participating in the movement, I fear that there will be no outlet for the expression of the popular sentiment, and the result would be that by stifling public opinion some serious commotion might arise, which would disturb the peace and order of the country and endanger the situation." It seems clear from this that the President regards the country as practically unanimously in favour of the change. When he suppressed the Kuomintang, President YUAN SHIH KAI did not allow his mind to be troubled about the stifling of public opinion. He was satisfied that they were merely a political faction, albeit a large one. His aim was to secure peace, and his drastic methods succeeded where milder methods would have failed. The President is stated to have declared that "no matter what form of government the country adopts, and whether he remains or not at the head of the government, he will endeavour to the best of his ability to secure the establishment of a thoroughly effective Constitutional Government giving the Legislature full power to discuss Government affairs and make laws for the country." We have some difficulty in reconciling a supercession of YUAN SHIH KAI with a continuance of peace and good government in China, and we fancy that is a view which will be emphasised next month at the ballots throughout China on the question.

Mr. Angus, has been washed overboard and

The Administrative Court at Peking has passed a verdict of not guilty in the cases of Yeh Kung-tso, the senior Vice-Minister of Communications, and his brother, Yeh Tao-chuan, director of the southern section of the Tsingpu Railway, charged with corruption. In the case of Chao Ching-lua, the managing director of the railway, they brought in a verdict of guilty and ordered that he be handed over to the Committee for the Punishment of High Officials.

D.S.O. FOR CAPT. MONTIETH, R.A.M.C.

Captain Hugh Glencairn Montieth, R.A.M.C., (who was in Hongkong when the war broke out and went to the front early this year, being attached to the 2nd Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry) has been appointed by the King a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order. The service for which the distinction was awarded is set forth as follows—
"For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in picking up and attending to the wounded under heavy fire in the actions near St. Jean and Wiltje, east of Ypres, between April 23rd and 27th, 1915, when the casualties in the battalion to which he was attached were very heavy."

Captain Montieth, with other recipients of the Order, had the honour of being received by the King on September 17th, when His Majesty invested them with the insignia of the Order.

The many friends of Mr. T. W. Hill, of Messrs. Bradley & Co., Ltd., will deeply sympathise with him in the loss of a brother at the front. Another brother lost an arm at an earlier stage of the war, and is a prisoner of war in Germany. A third brother is in the Navy.

IMPORTANT FRENCH SUCCESS.

HOW A SALIENT WAS CAPTURED.

PARIS, October 26th.

The French have secured another important success in Champagne. A communiqué states: We took a German salient comprising a most important work, and four lines of trenches strongly organised along a front of 1,200 yards, and having an average depth of 250 yards. The German losses were serious. They left prisoners in our hands belonging to three different regiments.

The salient included a portion of the northern slopes of Hill 196 two kilometres northward of Menilles-Hurlus, and a fort called "The Convent," which was carried after a very severe struggle. Indeed, the whole salient was very strongly fortified, but despite this, and the desperation of the Germans, the Frenchmen, after vigorous artillery preparation and fierce fighting, took the whole of it by the end of the day.

BAGPIPES IN BATTLE.

THRILLING STORY OF FIGHT AT LOOS.

LONDON, October 25th.

Reuter's correspondent at Headquarters records, among the incidents of the British attack at Loos, that the Black Watch went into action with the pipers playing "Hieland Laddie." The pipers played at the first German trench while the enemy were cleared out, and two of them mounted the parapets. The skirl of the pipes was audible above the crash of the bombs. One of the pipers was shot, but his companion continued playing until the advance was resumed, when the pipers followed, the notes sounding triumphantly above the tumult as the smoke swallowed them up. A Black Watch sergeant killed seven Germans with the bayonet, single-handed.

VIOLENT ENEMY COUNTER-ATTACKS.

PARIS, October 26th.
3 a.m.

A communiqué states that the Germans made most violent counter-attacks on all sides of the work in Champagne mentioned yesterday afternoon. We remained in possession of the conquered positions, except at the centre where the Germans succeeded in re-occupying some portions of trenches where furious hand grenade fighting had been proceeding.

THE SERBIAN FRONT.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SUCCESSFUL SERBIAN COUNTER-ATTACKS.

NISH, October 25th.

A communiqué states that the Serbian counter-attacks against the Austro-Germans were completely successful. They took two guns, four machine-guns and much booty, including horses and mules. Fighting on the eastern front is proceeding at Krivolak, Krupnuli and Uskub.

FALL OF USKUB.

LONDON, October 25th.

A Serbian communiqué admits the fall of Uskub.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

A FRANCO-SERBIAN SUCCESS.

BOLD FRENCH MOVE.

PARIS, October 26th.

An Athens telegram gives details of the Franco-Serbian success at Krivolak, thirty-seven miles from Kupnuli. The Bulgarians were attacking in force when the French troops, by a bold manoeuvre, turned their right flank while the Serbians delivered a strong counter-offensive upon the whole front. The Bulgarians finally retreated in the direction of Strumitza, pursued by the French troops and Serbian cavalry.

BULGARIAN LINE THREATENED.

LONDON, October 26th.

The Serbian Legation at Athens on the 23rd inst. stated that the Bulgarian line towards Bulgaria was seriously threatened owing to the French contingents at Krivolak and Strumitza.

The Legation denies that the Government have left Nish.

ALLIES TO SUCCOUR SERBIA

PARIS, October 26th.

The Temps Athens correspondent says that according to information from a sound diplomatic source, the Allies have decided upon new and effective measures for succouring Serbia. The British in particular have promised the immediate despatch of large numbers of troops with full equipment and stores.

ALLIES LAND AT DEDEAGATCH.

LONDON, October 26th.

It is reported from Rome that the Allies began to land troops at Dedegatch yesterday. They have cut the Salonika-Adrianople railway.

BULGARIAN REVERSES.

ATHENS, October 26th.

From reliable sources it is learned that after the battle near Valandovo the French pursued the Bulgarians over the frontier. The Bulgarians were also defeated at Krupnuli.

SERBIANS OPTIMISTIC.

FRENCH STRIKING HARD BLOWS.

LONDON, October 26th.

Reuter's correspondent at the Serbian Headquarters says that they are satisfied with the situation, as it is evident that the French are striking hard blows at a critical point in the north, where the Bulgarians are waiting at Riva to join the Germans who are at Orsova, which is only thirty-five miles distant. A small Serbian army in this corner was hard pressed on two sides, but the German offensive was stopped at its most vital point, namely at Morava, and if the Allies give timely help in the south, releasing the Serbians, the latter are confident that they will eventually expel the invader.

THE FRENCH 75.

LONDON, October 26th.

A French wireless message confirms the statement that the Frenchmen beat the Bulgarians at Rabrovo, near Strumitza on the 21st. The Bulgarians attacked on a larger front next day but were repulsed on a larger scale. They made no attack on the 23rd. It is stated that the French 75's largely contributed to the successes.

RUSSIAN CRISIS PASSED.

EXPECTATION OF A GENERAL OFFENSIVE.

LONDON, October 25th.

The Times correspondent at the Russian Headquarters is authorised by a representative of the General Staff to state that the crisis of the Russian army, due to the enemy's uninterrupted blows along a 700-mile front from May to October, has passed favourably to the Russians, who are not exhausted and are now firmly based upon the centre of the Empire, in living expectation of a general offensive, and looking confidently to the Armies of the Allies.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING S.E. OF RIGA.

PETROGRAD, October 26th.

The feature of to-day's communiqué is the terrific fighting at Ikskul, twenty-five miles south-east of Riga, and east of Ilukst.

The Germans furiously attacked both places. They were repulsed five times at Ikskul. By a sixth attack they gained a footing, but the Russians finally annihilated the majority of the attackers, capturing the remainder.

The attacks were equally determined at Ilukst, but all were repulsed.

The communiqué mentions that fighting in the Riga region continues.

THE BERLIN VERSION.

LONDON, October 26th.

A Berlin communiqué admits that superior Russian forces compelled weak German forces to withdraw from Ilukst. Elsewhere along the Russian front, the communiqué emphasises the strong Russian attacks which, it claims, were repulsed.

GERMANY'S STRENGTH.

PARIS, October 26th.

A Petrograd correspondent states that according to military authorities the number of enemy divisions on a front of 800 miles a month ago was 130. Today, on a front of 700 miles, there are 125. The enemy has almost doubled the number of his divisions on the Riga front, having withdrawn troops from the other fronts, except between Pripiet and the Rumanian frontier, where he has increased his divisions by one tenth.

GERMAN LOSSES AT DVINSK.

ESTIMATED TO BE 50,000.

LONDON, October 26th.

The Neue Vremya's war correspondent estimates the German losses at Dvinsk to be from 40,000 to 50,000. He says that on a twenty-seven mile front, from Illukst to Lake Drisviat, the Germans have 50,000 men, and an immense weight of artillery, including siege guns and mortars.

AUSTRO-ITALIAN FRONT.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

ITALIAN DASH.

SEVERAL ENEMY POSITIONS STORMED.

ROME, October 26th.

A communiqué states that the Italians on Sunday, between Garda and Adige, descended from Monte Altissimo under a cross-fire from the guns of two enemy forts, stormed two positions securing the hold of the Riva-Mori road, and captured much material in the enemy trenches.

Three enemy night attacks in Rienz Valley were repulsed. The enemy fled and were pursued back to the trenches. Two enemy attacks at Mrzli penetrated the Italian line, but alpinists recaptured the trenches, buried 300 dead and took scores of prisoners.

The Italians also stormed a strong trenchment in the Piava zone.

OBJECT OF ITALIAN OFFENSIVE.

LONDON, October 26th.

A telegram from Geneva says that the object of the great Italian offensive was to prevent the Austrians troops going to Serbia. The Italians have abundant munitions and their Chiasos are famous.

AIRSHIP ACTIVITY.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

AEROPLANES ATTACK VENICE.

WORKS OF ART DAMAGED.

ROME, October 26th.

It is officially announced that there were three aeroplane attacks on Venice on Sunday evening. Several bombs, some incendiary, were thrown. One struck the roof of the Church of Scalzi, bringing down the ceiling containing precious paintings. There was also other slight damage, but no casualties.

SHEER VANDALISM.

LATER.

Three Austrian aeroplanes re-attacked Venice this morning. Three persons were slightly injured. The damage to property was unimportant.

The papers denounce the attacks as sheer vandalism, as it is difficult to touch the city without damaging irreplaceable works of art. Bombs fell on the Piazza San Marco and it was a miracle that nothing was harmed. The papers express the hope that the devout Emperor and Archduke will be satisfied with the damage to the Church.

NAVAL ACTIVITIES.

THE KING AT THE FRONT.

VISIT REGARDED AS OF HIGHEST IMPORTANCE.

LONDON, October 26th.

It is officially announced that His Majesty the King has arrived in France on a visit to the Army, and that His Majesty also intends to see the Allied troops.

LATER.

The King arrived at Havre on the 22nd inst. and visited the British Camps. Afterwards His Majesty left for the Front.

The visit is regarded in France as of the highest importance.

The Echo de Paris, voicing the feeling in influential circles, says it is a happy event. The duration of the war largely depends on the decisions which are at present being taken, and the rapidity of executing them. The conversations which the King will have in France will render inestimable service to the Allied cause.

TURKISH ATROCITIES.

MOTHERS BAYONETTED BEFORE THEIR CHILDREN'S EYES.

BISHOP "SHOT LIKE A HORSE."

LONDON, October 26th.

Reuter's correspondent at the Mediterranean Headquarters gives the narrative of an Armenian prisoner of war, dealing with Turkish atrocities. When returning invalided to his home at Zile, in north-west Sivas, he was an eye-witness of the Turks shooting of the Bishop of Sivas like a horse when they exiled him to Yali, saying that as the Head of the Armenians he must not be allowed to go barefooted. When the narrator reached Zile he found the authorities throwing the population of 21,000 into prison, from which place the men were taken in batches into the country, tied with ropes and massacred. The women and children were exposed on the plains to hunger and cold for many days and nights till it was thought that they would accept conversion. All of them refused and then the mothers were bayoneted before the eyes of the children, who were afterwards sold. The narrator and his brother rejoined the Turkish army as Moslems, and made their way to Angora. Everywhere they met Turkish reservists, who were en route to join the army slaughtering Armenians. There were massacres at Angora similar to those at Zile. The Turks fell upon parties, some times of 800, with the bayonet, literally tearing them to pieces as they lay defenceless on the ground.

LONDON, October 26th.

THE ARMENIAN MASSACRES.

WHAT ENGLISH PEOPLE CAN DO.

LONDON, October 26th.

Lord Bryce, speaking at Manchester, said that nothing in the war could compare in its magnitude with the horror of the Armenian massacres. There was no question of Mohammedan fanaticism in the case, as the Turkish Government was solely responsible. It was decided at the outbreak of the war to destroy the whole of the Armenian people, but they failed to do it at first, and so they did not begin the sanguinary work till April, when they thought they were safe. Protests would do no good. All the English people could do was to send all the help possible to the Armenian refugees.

DASTARDLY GERMAN PLOT.

TO DESTROY MUNITION SHIPS.

LONDON, October 26th.

Four Germans have been arrested in New York and charged with plotting to destroy munition ships by ingenious infernal machines. Further revelations are expected. Americans are most indignant, and demand a most searching investigation for the originators.

LATER.

They were in possession of explosives, survey charts of New York harbour, and explosive machines which could be fastened to the stern of a ship and explode on contact with the propeller; also infernal machines which could be timed to explode days after the vessels departure.

ELDER DEMPSTER LINER ABLAZE.

FEARED TOTAL LOSS.

LONDON, October 26th.

The Elder Dempster liner, Haro, from Forcados (Gulf of Guinea), caught fire off Dungeness on Saturday night and was beached at Deal on Sunday. The vessel presented an extraordinary spectacle as she was being towed towards the shore; the flames were most high, and huge waves were pumping in water. A gale fanned the flames which raged the night long. The ship on Monday swamped the fire, but there was a terrific explosion at noon which wrecked the afterpart of the ship, hurling the wreckage in the air. It is feared that she will be a total loss. The Chief Engineer is missing and several seamen were sent to hospital.
